

Indirect Object Pronouns

me nos
te os le les

Direct Object Pronouns

me nos
te os lo/la los/las

Answers: To whom? For whom?

Answers: Who? What?

S V DO

IO

Yo mando un regalo a mi hermana (baja, linda y paciente).

What your mind does: (Practice these steps over and over.)

- What word tells who is doing the action? What's the SUBJECT? — "Yo"
- What word or words tells what the action is? What's the VERB? — "mando"
- * * * Indirect Objects, Direct Objects and their pronouns will never serve as the subject or the verb.
- Is there an element which answers the questions: To whom? or For whom? — That word or entire phrase is the INDIRECT OBJECT. — "a mi hermana baja . . ."
- Is there an element which answers the questions: Who? or What? — That word or entire phrase is the DIRECT OBJECT. — "un regalo"

Yo mando un regalo a mi hermana.

What your mind does:

Yo mando lo le.

Substitute the DO / IO pronouns.

NOT! This is more like Chinese than Spanish.

RULES OF PLACEMENT:

(For DO, IO, and Reflexive Pronouns)

1. Before the conjugated verb.
2. Attached to the infinitive.
3. Attached to the present participle.
4. Attached to the affirmative command
5. Before the negative command, after the No.

Yo lo le mando.

RULE OF LIFE:

People are more important than things.

People always come first.

(Indirect before Direct: I.D.)

Yo le lo mando.

You can't "Lay Low" in Spanish. But you can "Say Low": LE / LES → SE

Yo se lo mando.

We Have A Winner!

