- Gordon College Reference Guide to Grammar and Usage. 3rd cust. ed. New York: Pearson, 2008. [ISBN: 978-0-205-78231-4] (GCRG)
- Graff, Gerald, Cathy Birkenstein, and Russel Durst. They Say/I Say: The Moves that Matter in Academic Writing, with Readings. 2nd ed. New York: Norton, 2009. [ISBN: 978-0-393-93361-1] (TSIS)

Course Description: A composition course emphasizing interpretation and evaluation, and that incorporates a variety of advanced research methods.

Placement Policy: Grade of C or better in ENGL 1101.

Course Objectives: In order to successfully complete ENGL 1102, the student should fulfill the following objectives.

Literacy Objective: Students must further advance their reading, comprehension, and response skills, both written and oral, in relation to nuanced and complex texts.

Critical Thinking Objectives: Students should develop or significantly improve their ability to

- Synthesize, for example in the use of multiple texts as support for an original idea.
- Reflect on argumentative and research writing processes and products.
- Develop and respond to individualized critical questions.

Process Objectives: Students should develop or improve their ability to recognize and apply complex writing processes, including but not limited to the following:

- Increased awareness of process fundamentals as stated in the process objectives section of the ENGL 1101 Course Objectives.
- Strategies and skills for academic research.
- Strategies and skills for framing and developing an argument.
- Strategies and skills for critical interpretation.

Product Objectives: Students should develop or improve their ability to produce an organized, coherent, and developed essay demonstrating a mastery of Standard Written English. Successful demonstration of these skills includes the following:

- Increased competency in rhetorical strategy as related to audience, tone, and purpose in a variety of contexts.
- Articulation and understanding of complex subtleties involving a thesis idea.
- Demonstration of the ability to correctly apply modal competency in research and argumentative situations.

- Demonstration of advanced documentation skills, including but not limited to the analysis, interpretation, and appropriate documentation of primary and secondary critical texts.
- Competency in grammatical and mechanical correctness.
- Competency in timed writing situations such as the Regents' Exam.

Academic Dishonesty: Gordon State College's current Academic Catalog includes detailed descriptions of what actions are academically dishonest and a statement on the purpose of having an academic dishonesty policy in the first place. For the purposes of this class particularly, an act of "Academic Dishonesty" involves passing off someone else's work or ideas as your own. This rule applies to anything turned in for a grade, regardless of how minor or major that assignment is and regardless of the reason for the infraction. Ignorance of the rules for attributing ideas to others correctly is not a valid excuse; students are held accountable for documenting others' ideas correctly, so they should make certain to be present on the days the class discusses documentation or to get the notes from a classmate who was there on that date.

Collusion is one form of academic dishonesty that is worth mentioning specifically and is defined as receiving excessive help from another to the point that a work can no longer be the product of a single author. In this class, if a submitted assignment is suspected to be the result of collusion, the teacher reserves the right to refuse credit for that work if the claimed author is unable to demonstrate sole authorship.

We will discuss documentation on Monday, July 1. The particulars and principles of Gordon State College's Academic Dishonesty policy are available in the Catalog on pp. 286-87 and online at <http://www2.gordonstate.edu/catalog/current/view/C191/#academic-dishonesty>.

The Academic Catalog also outlines, among other things, the possible penalties for academic dishonesty and the process by which these penalties can be repealed. This information can also be found in the Catalog on pp. 62-63 and online at <http://www2.gordonstate.edu/catalog/current/view/C84/#academic-dishonestypolicy>.

In most cases of academic dishonesty for this course, a student can expect to receive no better than an F on the assignment in question. In more severe cases the student may receive a 0 for the assignment grade or expulsion from the class.

Course Assignments: The following is a list of the specific assignments for this course section. Each assignment name is accompanied by a short description of its requirements. Where noted, see the corresponding supplementary materials for more detailed information.

Annotated Bibliography: This assignment complements the Research Essay by detailing the direction of students' research before the Research Essay is submitted for a grade. The requirements for this assignment will be explained in handouts given on Thursday, June 27, and the assignment itself is due on Wednesday, July 3. This assignment accounts for ten percent of the semester's final grade.

Argumentative Essay: Will be written in class on Friday, June 28 and will account for ten percent of the semester's grade. The requirements for this assignment will be explained in a handout given on Wednesday, June 26.

Class Participation Portfolio: Each class meeting will include some writing activity that factors into the semester's final grade. Some writing activities may require students to make special preparations outside of class, so students should come prepared and be mindful of homework assignments on the Daily Calendar (below). If a student does not fully follow the instructions for a Class Participation Portfolio assignment, then half credit for that assignment will be given. The Class Participation Portfolio accounts for fifteen percent of the semester's final grade.

Critical Analysis Essay: This is a major writing assignment that accounts for ten percent of the semester's final grade. Its requirements will be explained in a handout given on Monday, July 1, and the assignment itself is due on Tuesday, July 9.

Final Exam: On Monday, July 22, from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m., there will be a final exam that will require students to write an essay in class. Find this semester's complete final examination schedule at the end of the Summer 2013 academic calendar online at <http://www.gordonstate.edu/pdf/calendars/calendarSum2013.pdf>. The final exam accounts for fifteen percent of the semester's final grade. Note: The exam will involve reflection over the semester's work, so it may benefit students to save their graded work to bring for the examination. Further details about this exam will be explained in a handout given on Friday, July 19.

Group Conferences: There will be Group Conferences during class for the Revision Essay during the last week of the semester. During this week, students will be split into small groups and discuss their essay drafts in detail. Further details and requirements for these assignments will be explained closer to the dates on which they are conducted. Taken together, these conferences account for five percent of the semester's final grade.

Research Essay: This essay must be at least 1,500 words long and include at least five secondary sources. The requirements for this assignment will be explained in a handout given on Thursday, June 27, and the assignment itself is due on Friday, July 12. This assignment accounts for fifteen percent of the semester's final grade.

Revision/Revision Notes: The final major writing assignment will involve major revision of the Argumentative Essay, the Critical Analysis Essay, or the Research Essay, and it will account for fifteen percent of the semester's final grade. The requirements for this revision will be explained in a handout given on Friday, July 12, and revision drafts and notes will be submitted for grading on Friday, July 19.

Syllabus Quiz: On June 27 you will hand in a take-home quiz on the course syllabus. You will need to use the syllabus, the Academic Catalog, and the school website to answer each of the questions accurately. This quiz will account for five percent of your final semester's grade.

Grade Distribution: Each assignment will factor into the course grade by the following percentages:

Class Participation Portfolio	15%
Final Exam	15%
Research Essay	15%

Revision/Revision Notes	15%
Annotated Bibliography	10%
Argumentative Essay (In-Class)	10%
Critical Analysis Essay	10%
Group Conferences	5%
Syllabus Quiz	5%

Make-up Policy: The Annotated Bibliography, Revisions, Revision notes, and the Critical Analysis and Research essays will be accepted late, but with a five-point penalty for each day they are past due. (This includes holidays and weekends.) To be considered on time, these documents need to be printed out and submitted any time before the conclusion of the class meeting during which they are due. Submission after the conclusion of that class meeting makes that assignment one day late, two days late twenty-four hours later, and so on.

For differing reasons, there are certain elements of the course grade that cannot be made up. Class Participation activities are always group-based, so there is no way for these activities to be made up. Group Conferences cannot be made up for the same reason, in addition to the fact that they need to be conducted on certain dates in order for them to be useful.

Argumentative Essays and Final Exams can be made up, but only after students establish valid excuses for having missed the assignments and then make arrangements for making them up. Note: If a student has three or more finals scheduled on the same day, he or she can go to the office of Academic Affairs and fill out a petition to take one or more exams on alternative days.

No assignment should be submitted via email or by any other method of electronic submission. If a student must miss class on the day an assignment is due, and if email is the only means by which the assignment can be submitted on time, then an exception can be made if the student requests and receives permission to do so beforehand. If the student emails the assignment on time, but without receiving permission beforehand, the assignment will be accepted, but with a five-point deduction from the assignment grade.

Attendance Policy: There is no maximum number of absences allowed. However, most class meetings involve an activity that factors into the Class Participation Portfolio grade, and these activities cannot be made up. Students who discover that tardiness will be a reoccurring problem are encouraged to sit near the door. Further information on Gordon's class attendance policies can be found in the Catalog on pp. 51-52 and online at <http://www.gordonstate.edu/departments/registrar/attendance.asp>.

Access Policy: Students at Gordon College with mental or physical impairments that may negatively affect their academic performance are encouraged to contact Laura Bowen, Director of the Counseling Center, by telephone at 678-359-5585, or via email at laurab@gordonstate.edu. For further information about the scope and requirements of this service, look in the Academic Catalog on pp. 75-76, or go to the center's web page at <http://www.gordonstate.edu/studentlife/ADA.asp>.

Teacher/Student Conferences: Though they are not required as a part of the semester grade, students are encouraged and welcomed to schedule conferences with the teacher regarding their work on particular writing projects or their progress in the course in general. In cases where a student receives a D or an F on his or her essay, a teacher/student conference is strongly recommended. There is no maximum number of conferences allowable. To schedule a conference, a student should first consult his or her schedule and the teacher's hours of availability and then email him with a request for a specific conference time.
